

To whomsoever this may concern

It is with pleasure I bring my highest recommendation of Sidharth Sukumaran Nair for the consideration of employment.

Sidharth is my Research Assistant at Arizona State University working on Energy Efficiency savings for modern Connected and Automated Vehicles (CAVs) and has been working with me over the past 18 months. He was also an integral part of the ASU EcoCAR team for which I was a faculty advisor.

Sidharth was also my lead student on a university – industry project with a Local Company working on Connected and Automated Electric Vehicles which was funded by the Department of Energy. Despite working in multiple interdisciplinary teams in a leading capacity, he was proactive while working with me and ensured the completion of my projects with little supervision and in a timely manner. He was also pro-active in his pursuit of understanding an assignment and seeking out input and resources to excel at each assignment. Our brain storming sessions where we worked on High Level Decision Control Algorithm were interesting and helped me understand his capabilities on problem solving.

He is currently actively engaged in working in a similar project on Hybrid CAVs and working towards validating the results by testing them. Always a pleasant attitude, he was well liked by his peers and accepted feedback from myself and fellow students with genuine interest. I would consider Sidharth a positive role model for his peers. He seemed comfortable in an area which was perhaps outside his area of expertise and worked tirelessly to prove himself as proficient in the field. He also welcomed opportunities to talk with others and share ideas and knowledge.

I am confident that Sidharth will welcome the opportunity that you offer and will ensure successful completion of all expectations set forth by that opportunity. He will bring to any workplace not only maturity and interpersonal skills, but also will make any environment richer with his passion for success and academic knowledge.

Finally, Sidharth embodies the qualities I consider of a successful individual: the thirst for knowledge, maturity, creativity and the attitude to mentor and be mentored.

Sincerely,

Abdel Mayyas
Ph.D. Automotive Engineering,
Lead Faculty Advisor-ASU-EcoCAR 3
amayyas@asu.edu
Web: ecocar3.asu.edu
Tel: 480 727 1905